

10-2-17 A slice of faithfulness

You've probably heard about self-driving cars -- how someday soon, computers will do all the braking and steering for us.

Well, what about you? Would you trust a computer to take the wheel? I'm not so sure, but the Ford motor company is starting small, by letting driverless cars deliver pizzas.

That's right – people in Ann Arbor, Michigan, who order from Domino's may see a driverless car pull into their driveway with hot pizza on board. Leaders from Ford and Domino's expect the cars to be widely used five years from now.

If so, this may help driverless cars gain our trust. After all, as the Gospel writer says, "Whoever is faithful in little is faithful also in much."

Just a thought. I'm Sid Batts from First Presbyterian Church in downtown Greensboro, overlooking Fisher Park.
