

10-20-17 The CEO and the attendant

The CEO of a large insurance company and his wife stopped for gas. The husband went inside and while paying the bill, he saw an attendant pumping gas and his wife in a long conversation. When he got back in the car he asked her about the conversation.

Said his wife: "I actually know him from my teenage years, in fact, he was once my boyfriend."

"Really?" said the CEO.

As they drove, he smugly said to his wife, "Well I guess you are glad you married a CEO rather than a gas station attendant."

His wife replied, "Dear, if I'd married him, he would be the CEO and you would be the station attendant."

Well, God is always trying to teach us humility, and humility is one of the essentials of the spiritual life.

Just a thought. I'm Sid Batts from First Presbyterian Church in downtown Greensboro, fpcgreensboro.org.