

4-11-18 After the war

Glenn Frazier was a prisoner during World War II and his treatment was unspeakable. He survived torture and learned how to hate the Japanese.

After the war, Frazier's hatred remained. He hated Japanese automobiles, electronics and everything made in Japan. The war was over but not for Frazier.

He had nightmares every night. His minister said that forgiveness was the only solution. So, after 25 years of suffering with hate, he decided to do something. He set out to forgive the Japanese.

The process took Frazier two plus years, but he did it with the help of God. He said that after the process of forgiveness, he never had another nightmare!

So what war is still going on inside of you?

Just a thought. I'm Sid Batts from Frist Presbyterian Church in downtown Greensboro, fpcgreensboro.org.
